

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 2, Number 4. March 07, 2019 The United States continues to pressure countries to abandon Huawei

United States officials have been pressuring nations around the world to cut ties with Huawei Technologies Co., Ltd., but success has been limited. In Europe, both the United Kingdom and Germany are considering using Huawei's equipment and services, despite U.S. objections. Eastern European countries have also balked at banning Huawei from investing and doing business within their borders.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login