

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 2, Number 13. July 18, 2019

Short films demonstrate the effects of supply chains on vulnerable populations

By Sascha Matuszak

Makeup and gold have little in common, save for supply chains that reach deep into impoverished areas of the world in order to deliver high-end products to the wealthy West. A 20-minute expose on the makeup industry, “The Dark Secret Behind Your Favorite Makeup Products,” takes viewers into Indian mica mines, where children work alongside adults in unregulated and dangerous conditions.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login