

CEP Magazine – April 2018

Structure impacts compliance risks in global organizations

By Gerry Zack, CCEP, CFE, CIA

Please don't hesitate to call me about anything any time.

- +1 952.567.6215 Direct
- gerry.zack@corporatecompliance.org
- twitter.com/gerry_zack
- linkedin.com/in/gerryzack

When a company domiciled in one country begins doing business in another country, a potential plethora of new compliance challenges emerges. Often, determining which compliance requirements apply is based on the legal structure that was selected for the new operations. For instance, companies often choose from one of the following methods of doing business in another country:

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login