

Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 2, Number 22. November 21, 2019 Germany's Data Ethics Commission releases report on AI

By Sascha Matuszak

As artificial intelligence (AI) is adopted across industries, governments and stakeholders are grappling with ethical and legal frameworks to ensure automation doesn't adversely affect human populations. Several associations have developed ethical standards and regulatory proposals for AI—including in the supply chain industry.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login