

CEP Magazine – December 2021 Boost compliance liaison performance

By Dian Zhang

Dian Zhang (dian.zhang@gartner.com) is a Research Specialist at Gartner in Arlington, Virginia, USA.

A successful liaison program can extend compliance's influence throughout the enterprise. This is extremely valuable now, as hybrid work models make it harder for compliance to stay connected with employees.

The median number of compliance liaisons increased from 25 in 2018 (N = 65 compliance executives) to a projected 27 in 2020 (N = 79 compliance executives).^[1] But making the most of these liaisons remains a challenge. After all, how do you maximize the performance of busy colleagues who have full-time jobs and report to separate managers?

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login