

Compliance Today – April 2022 That creep is a spy

By Gerry Zack

Please feel free to contact me anytime to share your thoughts: +1 612.357.1544 (cell), +1 952.567.6215 (direct), gerry.zack@corporatecompliance.org.

- twitter.com/gerry_zack
- linkedin.com/in/gerryzack

“Function creep” is not a term used to describe a person you don’t like. It refers to using a technology for something beyond its original intended use.

The pandemic has changed many aspects of how we conduct business. Many of those changes have, in turn, caused further changes that we are now dealing with. One example of the former is the conversion of many office workers to remote employees, a change that is becoming at least semi-permanent to some level.

Gerry Zack

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login