

CEP Magazine – April 2020 EU unveils new antitrust strategy to give a leg up to European markets

---

In a bid to give European markets more of a foothold in the global economy and to fend off companies and countries that are “undermining fair competition,” the European Commission unveiled in March a strategy that both encourages the sharing of data between businesses and discourages foreign governments from restricting access to their own markets while taking advantage of those in the EU.

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login