

CEP Magazine – May 2023

Kristy Grant-Hart (kgranthart@sparkcompliance.com, compliancekristy.com, twitter.com/KristyGrantHart, linkedin.com/KristyGrantHart) is the CEO of Spark Compliance Consulting in Los Angeles, California, USA, and author of How to be a Wildly Effective Compliance Officer.

Is the grass really greener at a new job?

---

By Kristy Grant-Hart

Sometimes the frustration is just too much. If you're being micromanaged, subjected to endless working hours, being asked to take calls at all hours of the day and night, or working in an unappreciative environment, you're likely browsing LinkedIn hoping to find an escape.

Compliance is still booming

Despite recessionary winds, compliance jobs continue to be abundant. Our jobs are relatively recession-proof, as regulators don't stop prosecuting companies or making new rules because of the economic cycle. It's a tight job market for skilled compliance officers, so if you want to leave your current role, you probably can. But should you?

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login