Report on Supply Chain Compliance Volume 3, Number 3. February 06, 2020
Facial recognition rises as threat to data privacy

By Sascha Matuszak

A _New York Times_ article[1] blew open the work of Clearview AI, an artificial intelligence start-up that claims to be helping law enforcement agencies solve crimes using facial recognition technology. The article used research from MuckRock[2] and Open the Government[3] —organizations that have collected information on the technology and the agencies supposedly using the software. Another report, by _Buzzfeed News_, [4] dug deeper into Clearview's claims and found that many of the relationships with law enforcement agencies were exaggerated or fabricated.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access.

Purchase Login