

CEP Magazine – February 2024

Matthew Silverman (matthew.silverman@viavisolutions.com) is the Global Trade Director and Senior Counsel at VIAVI Solutions in Chandler, Arizona, USA, and the Founder and CEO of The Blueprint Organization.

Making Friends with humor

By Matthew Silverman

On paper, Chandler Bing wasn't the most interesting or exciting TV character. He was a little neurotic, socially awkward at times, and had a boring job (no one seemed to know what he did for a living). So, why is he one of the most beloved characters in sitcom history? He was funny. He was sarcastic and acerbic and used his wit as a defense mechanism when faced with uncomfortable situations to the comedic benefit of the television audience.

This document is only available to members. Please log in or become a member.

Become a Member Login